CONVICT WITH GIRL FOUND IN BARN

Bloodhounds Track Abductor Of 11-Year-Old Miss, Outlaw Surrenders

EAST BROOKFIELD, Vt., May 1.—Hungry, cold and dazed with sleep, Earl Woodward, ex-convict, and 11-year-old Lucille Chatterton, the girl he kidnaped a week ago, were found today in an old hay barn in the hills here.

"Don't shoot, I'll go along," the outlaw said, submitting without a struggle as three rifles were held to his breast.

Threats of lynching caused the little posse to hurry the fugitive to the county jail at Randolph, where he was put under lock and key.

Lucille, after being examined by physicians, was provided with food and warm clothing by George Jerd, who led three men who captured Woodward. A physician who examined Lucille said she had not been harmed.

Girl's Statement

"I went with Earl of my own free will and he was kind to me."

This was the sentiment that ran through the first statement of Lucille.

"Father and mother weren't kind to me," said the child. "Earl was good to me. Once he cried because we had to sleep out in the mountain and I was cold and hungry."

Woodward was tracked to an abandoned barn by a police dog. A posse, consisting of three men, surrounded the barn.

Immediately after his capture, Woodward was rushed to the jail at Randolph and locked up. Threats had been made against the man and it was thought best by the authorities to get him under lock and key. The man hunt for Woodward has been in progress exactly a week.

Father Sees Daughter

Walter Chatterton, her father, who had been on the trail with only a few snatches of sleep for seven days and nights, came here by automobile. The girl was restored to her father's arms.

BIG INCREASE RESULTS IN ORNAMENTAL LIGHTING SYSTEM

Department Heads Make Their Estimates For New Fiscal Year

The 1925-26 general budget for the city of Glendale will approach the $500,000 mark, it was estimated today. Heads of various municipal departments are now compiling budget requests to be passed upon by City Manager V. B. Stone and presented, with his recommendations, to the City Council on either May 26 or May 28.

In addition to the general budget of $442,300 this year's municipal budget also include $30,349 for parks, $43,405 for library and $710,860 for public service, making a grand total of $1,226,914. The city tax rate last year was $1.11.

Increases are generally expected for the next fiscal year in both the park and library budgets.

The budget must be formally adopted before July 1.

Lighting Increase

One of the biggest increases for the next fiscal year will have been made necessary by the extension of the ornamental lighting system in Glendale. A sum of at least $55,000 will be required during the next year to pay for the electricity used in the ornamental lights.

Last year's budget totaled $442,300, including $21,544 in the unappropriated reserve.

It is believed that the budget for a few of the municipal departments will be slightly larger this year than last. For the fiscal year ending July 1, the budget included $94,278 for general government; $45,350 for public welfare; $95,240 for the police department; $95,980 for fire protection; $53,135 for engineering and street department and $25,820 for the building department.

Up to City Council

The budget requests of various departments will be turned over to City Manager Stone within the next two weeks, who will then draft his recommendations for presentation to the council.

While the assessed valuation of property in Glendale, upon which the tax rate is based, will not be known until August, officials in touch with the situation do not expect any material change in last year's totals.

The Realty board luncheon was held at Rice's in Sunland, last Monday. Among the matters discussed was that of subdividing a parcel of land in Haines canyon, known as the Begue ranch, which, it is reported, is about to be cut up into cabin sites. An investigation is to be made with a view to determining what action should be taken to safeguard the water supply obtained from Haines canyon.

At the last meeting of the Monte Vista Parent-Teacher association, held last Tuesday, boys from the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades took part in the program. Mrs. Gertrude F. M. Garrett of La Contenta School for Girls gave an interesting talk on her method of training and caring for the girls in her school, which is under the supervision of the state and county boards of charities and corrections. Mrs. George Knudson reported the Parent-Teacher association district convention. Mrs. Knudson was elected second delegate to the state convention this month. Alternates were Mrs. E. Godding and Mrs. Kevane.

"The Model Church" was the subject of the sermon by "Parson Bill" Smith last Sunday. He emphasized the need of co-operation and active assistance of the members of the church with the pastor.

The ratification meeting held last Friday night at the Garden of the Moon drew a large audience. Wallace M. Morgan was chairman. W. D. Wright offered invocation, after which the chairman called upon George Slusher, who acted as chairman of the committee on incorporation. He spoke, followed by Judge Breidt, who had led the anti-incorporationists. Trustees-elect, city clerk and treasurer-elect spoke briefly, giving assurance of their intention to serve the community to the best of their ability. Other speakers were: Fred M. Ashby, one of Tujunga's pioneers; W. E. Perry, of The Tujunga Valley Sentinel; Carroll W. Parcher, president of the Kiwanis club; Mrs. Flora A. White, president of the Tujunga Women's club; Mrs. Gwendolyn Lynch, president of Tujunga Parent-Teacher association; Mrs. Emma V. Hoffman, one of the early settlers of Tujunga, and who is described in Mr. McGroarty's sketches of the Millionaires' club of the Green Verdugo Hills, as the "Lady Who Made the Lemon Pies." "Singing Jimmie" Smith enlivened the meeting with songs. The trend of the remarks was that all should and would pull together, and, to use the words of one of "Singing Jimmie's" songs, make "T-U-J-U-N-G-A the Best Little Town in the U. S. A." Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

The county road force which recently finished the road work on West El Centro street is at work on East El Centro, east of Haines Canyon road.

Mrs. Baldwin and niece, Nell, who purchased the home of C. H. Samuelson, on Haines Canyon road, are enlarging the house and making improvements.

Mrs. M. C. Darwin, who has been in charge of the Tujunga sanitarium and rest home, announces the opening of a rest home at 356 North Sunset.

The Kiwanis club is keeping up its record of perfect attendance. The attendance contest, in which members are striving to reach 100 per cent, closes in three weeks.

Women who attended the tea at the Women's club building Tuesday afternoon, at which Mesdames Lynch and Gore were hostesses, enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon. Five-hundred was played and lunch served.

H. W. Huntington of East El Centro street, is enjoying a week's vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Huntington and daughter, Vera, spent the week-end in Imperial valley, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Hicks, formerly of Tujunga, and have made a second trip, to be present at the wedding of Miss Lucy Hicks tomorrow.

Chamber Denies Part in Fireworks Measure

By official action yesterday afternoon, the Glendale Chamber of Commerce reiterated the denial made earlier in the day by President D. H. Smith, that the chamber was responsible for introduction of an anti-fireworks ordinance in Glendale. It was pointed out that the matter of an ordinance prohibiting the sale of fireworks was never brought before the chamber for an opinion of any kind and that no one had authority to represent the chamber in the matter. Secretary Howard I. Wood was instructed to notify all committee chairmen that before action be taken by the committees they must have the official sanction of the board. In urging this action, several directors pointed out that it would serve as a necessary safety measure, should any committee chairman undertake to act independently of the board but in the name of the Chamber of Commerce.

Several merchants threatened to resign from the chamber in the event the fireworks ordinance passed the council, but Secretary Wood said today all but one of the Glendale druggists who threatened to quit the Chamber of Commerce on the grounds that the chamber sponsored the proposed anti-fire works ordinance, have reconsidered their action.

C. C. Secretaries Will Urge Spanish Costume

One hundred and twenty-five Chamber of Commerce secretaries who attended the secretaries' state convention of Eureka the early part of this week, launched the move to have Spanish costume adopted by men and women of California during the remainder of 1925, symbolic of the days when California was admitted to the Union 75 years ago, Secretary Howard I. Wood of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce reported today upon his return from the northern trip.

One of the main topics of discussion at the meeting, he said, was the fiestas planned for various cities during the summer and fall months in honor of the seventy-fifth year of California's statehood.

Secretaries wore red, yellow and green sashes all during the Eureka convention. They were urged to introduce the custom in their home towns. The Glendale Fiesta, planned for September 9, which is Admission Day, was widely advertised at the convention. The Glendale fiesta will play an important part in the state-wide celebration, Mr. Wood said.

Americanism Day Being Observed; Loyalty to Flag

Members of the American Legion throughout the country are today giving recognition to the annual observance of Americanism day, designed as a holiday to draw public attention to American ideals at a time when communistic and revolutionary "May Day" demonstrations are likely to appear as threats to established national traditions and institutions.

The men of the American Legion are committed against the destruction of the nation and its civilization, an attitude that carries over from their recent example of willingness to serve the United States when they offered themselves against its enemies. During the World war, Legionnaires experienced some hardships in the defense of the development of civilization. They still retain a memory of comrades stricken and disabled. As in that experience, so now the men of the American Legion see in the United States of America a force for the maintenance of human rights, liberty, justice and security. Believing that the United States has a high destiny to fulfill, they are uncompromisingly opposed to those forces of anarchy which would seek to jeopardize American democracy.

Occurring annually on the Friday preceding the first day of May, Americanism day is not intended for observance by Legionnaires alone, but as a day when all loyal citizens may seize opportunity, as stated in the words of the American Legion Handbook on Service, "for the expression of the patriotic feeling of true citizenship; and to afford contrast and rebuke to the festival of anarchy set for the first of May."

The creation of this holiday by the American Legion and the urge lent that others join them in its observance is prompted wholly by unselfish motives of patriotic devotion to the flag of the United States and the constitution which insures to the people of our nation those inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The American's creed embodies the finer meanings of Americanism day with:

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic and a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I, therefore, believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag and to defend it against all enemies."

RAID NETS STILL UNDER OPERATION

North Cedar Street Resident Held In Bail After Visit By Police

In a spectacular raid staged late yesterday afternoon, Glendale police led by Chief John D. Fraser and Detective Lieutenant William J. Royle, at 126 North Cedar street, a twenty-five gallon still in operation and a quantity of apricot brandy was seized. J. I. Bolson, alleged operator of the still, was arrested. He was released under $1000 bond.

According to the police, the still evidently had been in operation in a back room of the residence for a long time. It had been so well guarded that neighbors knew nothing of its existence despite the fact that there were a number of children and others living in the home.

Mash Found Boiling

Bolson was charged with manufacturing and possession of liquor.

The still was disconnected as the officers drew up in the police cars in front of the residence, but a quantity of mash was boiling in the twenty-five gallon container. Copper tubing carried the distilled product through the floor of the rear kitchen to another part of the house where it is alleged to have been bottled.

Officers who aided in the raid were Sergeant Blake and Patrolmen Gedden and Gibbs.

Garbage Cans Found Strewn Over Street

Ten new garbage cans were lost and found last night.

Patrolman Walter E. Hegi found them scattered on the sidewalk shortly after 10 o'clock last night in front of a hardware store at 1738 South San Fernando road.

The cans were carried into a nearby drug store to await ownership.

Our Weather Man

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—Fair tonight and Saturday, with no important change in temperature was the weather forecast today. Temperatures were: Chicago, 46; Denver, 38; Des Moines, 40; Los Angeles, 53; New York, 46; Phoenix, 62; St. Louis, 46; St. Paul, 40; San Francisco, 50; Washington, 48.

Efforts Being Made To Get 1926 Chautauqua

Glendale will undoubtedly have a 1926 Chautauqua, regardless of the fact that the 1925 Chautauqua season, closed last night with a deficit of $1100, met by each of the twenty-five guarantors paying his pro-rata of $44. According to Floyd Mercer, who served guarantors as secretary, the programs this year were fine and audiences good on special nights. He accounts for the deficit by poor weather, too many other local events, and lack of permission to sell tickets in the local schools. J. Mac McMillan was chairman of the guarantors.

Mr. Mercer states that six guarantors have signed for the 1926 season. Arrangements for next year reduce the guarantee, requiring fifty signers, each of whom will be held responsible only for the tickets allotted to him. Mr. Mercer adds that this will equalize the burden of the Chautauqua proposition so that all guarantors will be more personally responsible for the success or failure.

Former Local Pastor in San Diego Wreck

Rev. James S. O'Neill, formerly pastor of the Catholic church of Glendale, now pastor of the Catholic church of East San Diego, who was a passenger on the Santa Fe train wrecked near Sorrento last Tuesday night, in an interview with a San Diego Union reporter, deplores the alleged inhuman treatment accorded those injured. Rev. O'Neill was shaken up and his wrists bruised by the crashing passenger coaches, but escaped serious injury. Following is the interview:

"I deplore the inhuman and ungentlemanly manner in which every one was treated by the officials of the Santa Fe railroad, and their inefficiency in not getting out a relief train immediately. We were only 18 miles from San Diego, but waited almost four hours for relief. We were in the darkness and drizzling rain and the screaming and moaning was terrible after the crash.

"Following the first shock, which threw me to the floor, I tried to get upon my feet to give aid to the injured. I was again thrown on the floor, and this occurring four times in succession.

"When reporters tried to beat through the slush and rain to get the news for our loved ones at home, they were repulsed by the railroad officials and employes.

"Aid came through kind-hearted auto drivers who heard the rumor and risked their lives in hurrying to the scene. They also were repulsed. Some, however, were fortunate enough to take one or two injured women passengers to San Diego.

"I would like to comment on the work of Dr. N. D. McReynolds of Los Angeles, who gave assistance to the suffering, although injured himself. Robert Webb and Frank Kessen of Warner Bros. film studios, also worked untiringly.

"My advice to the Harbor of the Sun would be to encourage a competing railroad by which travelers and citizens of San Diego could get efficiency and service as well as humane treatment."

Odd Fellows Present Original Comedy Play

"The Disciples of Wealth" was the comedy sketch presented last night by members of Glendale lodge No. 388, I. O. O. F., under the direction of Howard Stanley, vice-grand of the organization, at a gathering of Rebekahs, Odd Fellows and their friends at Odd Fellows hall, 201 West Broadway. The play was written by Mr. Stanley and showed the institution of a new lodge, installation of the officers and initiation of candidates. Thirty-five members of the lodge took part in the play.

The play was presented following the benefit chicken dinner served by members of Glendale Rebekah lodge No. 257, under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide Meyers, general chairman. The dinner was attended by 116 people and 200 people were present for the entertainment.

Committees assisting Mrs. Meyers were: Mesdames Evelyn Hall, Mabel Goodfellow, Anna Dean, Rosella Strother, Mayme Rich, Sadie Bronnenberg, Fanny Groutage and Millie Kaiser and Miss Bernice Kaiser, dining room; Mrs. Marjorie Pease, finance; Mesdames Adelaide Meyers, Flora Hollenbeck, Winnie Hartley, Jessie Billingsley and Viola Ertel, kitchen. After the entertainment, light refreshments were served by a committee from the Odd Fellows' lodge.

ATWATER GIRL REALIZES ON OIL FIELD

Jane Green, Vaudeville Star, and Mother Strike It Rich in Canyon

In a modest little home at 3339 Larga avenue, Atwater, an aged woman today is puttering with her flowers and dreaming of the days when she and her daughter will enjoy the riches that are gushing out of the depths of land they had thought nearly worthless to them.

Mrs. Belle Green, whose father was a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, has notified her daughter, Jane Green, New York vaudeville actress, that a well that has been bored on their 320-acre tract at Soledad in Mint canyon is a producer. When she receives it this will be the first money Mrs. Green has ever had to spend as she wishes. Always before there were the bare necessities to buy and her little home to furnish and maintain.

Several years ago Mrs. Green and her daughter were left the land in Mint canyon. It was in that canyon that the first oil well was bored in Southern California. It is still being operated by the Standard Oil Co. and Mrs. Green's property is only five miles from that original producer.

Actress-Daughter

Three years ago Mrs. Green and her daughter, Jane, were approached by a syndicate that wanted to lease the land to drill for oil. Jane was making a good living for herself and her mother as a vaudeville and musical comedy star. Jazz music is her specialty. She developed her own talents and has made her own way in the world. But when the lease offer was made they built air-castles that have never tumbled.

Time passed. The well was started, but there were difficulties to be overcome, as there always are when oil wells are concerned.

"Jane rather lost hope of ever getting anything out of the land," said her mother today. "We couldn't work the property as farm land ourselves and we didn't want to sell it.

Cabaret Headliner

"But now, thank heavens, Jane can rest awhile if she wants to. I think she will come home and visit with me for awhile. It will surely seem funny to be rich. We have never had money to do just as we wanted.

"Jane is appearing at the present time at the Rue De La Paix cafe in New York. She is a good girl. I've never spent $50 on her talent. She developed it herself."

In her dressing room in New York Jane received the following telegram:

"Dear daughter, they have struck oil on our land. We will be rich after such a long wait. Mother."

Jane has been on the stage since she was 10 years old, singing and dancing.

TIME KILLING—
Is a badly overcrowded occupation.
Is the meanest form of dishonesty.
Often requires more exertion than work.
Is the first course in the school of crime.
Always works revenge upon the killer.
Is a crime punished by loss of self-respect.
Is the first step toward failure.

HUMAN TOYS

With the first appearance of man upon the earth the struggle for existence began, and it continues with redoubled effort today. The less joy we have in life the more tenaciously we seem to cling to it. Some one discussing the frailty of man and the brevity of life asked why it is that men will struggle so hard to live and get ahead in the world and teach their children to do the same when the years of a man's life is but a moment in time and eternity. As Robert Louis Stevenson said:

"The streets are full of human toys,
Wound up for threescore years;
Their springs are hungers, hopes and joys,
And jealousies and fears.

"They move their eyes, their lips, their hands;
They are marvelously dressed;
And here my body stirs or stands,
A plaything like the rest.

The toys are played with till they fall,
Worn out and thrown away.
Why were they ever made at all?
Who sits to watch the play!"

And some one volunteered the information that there is born in us the deep, if unconscious, desire to leave the world a little better than we found it, and there is a hope that if we can extend our lives a little longer we can do a little more. There may be some truth in this, but the fact remains that the one who is least concerning himself with making the world better hangs on to life just as tenaciously as the one who is. But this may be due to a hope of redeeming himself. It is also true that one who has spent a lifetime in making the world better and has the positive assurance of eternal reward often clings to life as jealously as the condemned murderer.

It is true that the only thing we can do to make a mark in our brief journey through life is to try to make the world better. It is not to be denied that the quest after ideals is the central reason and purpose of life. History teaches us this. Great minds living in an age of tyranny saw the ideal of a free people, and so they made the world better, and life easier for us. Peter Cooper once said, "The object of life is to do good."

Parents who have brought up children to be good citizens may leave this life, after their little span, knowing they will live on and keep up the quest of great ideals through their descendants. So many women today who think there is work more important than marriage and motherhood fail to take into account the brevity of life, and the fact that those who die without offspring are, in a way, blotted out.

JUSTICE FOR CHILDREN

When will our educators and our people awake to the fact that education is a state and not a local matter? Some people in Missouri, the state where they have to be shown, have seen this already, although they couldn't make their Legislature see it. There is much illiteracy in the mountain districts of Missouri, as there is in California, but, in either state, when anything is done for the cause of education, it is the populous districts that are favored. Counties having the largest school population and the most high schools have the lowest school taxes. This is because state school funds are distributed proportional to the average daily attendance. Counties whose schools are able to keep open nine months with a large enrollment get almost all the money, while the poor and sparsely settled districts tax themselves 100 per cent more for schools than the rich districts and then cannot secure the schools.

The Missouri Legislature refused to correct this condition, and in all probability the California Legislature would also refuse if the matter were brought up before it. No doubt, populous and rich districts, like Glendale and surrounding communities, would put up a vigorous fight against any change in the method of apportioning the state school funds, for the present method is distinctly to our advantage.

We complain about the school tax, yet we pay less than in districts where the children do not have the advantages that ours enjoy. Of course, we want the best for our children—at the lowest possible cost. If there are children in the state who are denied any schooling whatever, or whose educational advantages are very limited, should we concern ourselves? Should we care that there are children growing up in illiteracy to become a menace to, and a charge upon, society? There is an injustice in the situation that will react upon us some day.

State school funds should go where they are needed most. I may live in the back woods, but my child has the same right to an education that yours has, especially so if I am paying as high a school tax or higher than you. All the children in the state should have equal educational advantages. We talk about illiteracy, but when it comes to doing anything about it, we don't. We are not only selfish, but near-sighted as well.

THE SPICE OF LIFE

A Chicago University professor has, after extensive experiments, proved that monotony of thought or physical effort produces fatigue of mind and body, reduces accomplishment and lessens the quality of whatever is being done. We have known for a long time that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," but if the professor's tests show beyond a doubt that monotony slows up achievement they may have considerable effect upon those industries where there is a strong tendency to specialize, to eliminate variety and to concentrate upon a single process or effort. They may have some influence upon the expert in the Ford factory who, when asked what his work was, answered, "Screwing on nut No. 235." There would be no cause for wonder if investigations showed him to be nutty.

This is the day of specialization, and it will be hard to convince the big men in business and industry that monotony slows up production more than the loss of time and effort in going from one thing to another. But, whatever the nature of the work, both employer and employe today know that everyone should have some interest outside of his work, some diversion to renew the mind, for the greatest efficiency on the job. The one who thinks he is doing the best for himself and his employer by having no interest outside of his work wears him[illegible] out before his time. Like a cog wheel, worn by friction, slowing up the balance of the machinery, he is soon t[illegible] junk pile and replaced.

Concealed Riches

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A story has been going the rounds of the press of a man by the name of Nils Fischer.

He is the son of one of the richest men in Sweden.

Some time ago he disappeared and for several months was advertised for by his family.

He seemed to be suffering some mental aberration. While hungry and in rags he read a notice posted on the wall of the Y. M. C. A. This was after he had begged a meal at the Y. M. C. A.

"Aimlessly walking about the big room," said the press report, "the blond young man, ragged and penniless, a typical, futile derelict among the mass of human wreckage, paused in front of the bulletin board.

"Directly in front of him was a large poster, a duplicate of the thousands which have been showered over the continent since December 6."

Then his slumbering brain awoke. He reported to police headquarters and said he was probably the man who was advertised.

He was rescued by an agent of his father and placed under medical care.

Although an heir to great riches he deemed himself poor and was leading the life of a tramp.

There are many more men and women in the city who are leading desperate lives who are moral millionaires.

They have stores of courage, faith and spiritual energy that they do not themselves suspect. All the world is theirs and they have only to go up and claim it.

The instrumentality by which a poor man or woman gets hold of these riches is called faith, or courage. It can be utilized at any time

Those who give up to failure, commit suicide or otherwise yield themselves in the battle of life, are not aware of their hidden riches.

How few of us realize the amount of force contained within ourselves! How few have drawn on the resources of the universe which are ours to command!

Horoscope

Astrologers read this as a threatening day, for the Sun, Saturn and Venus are all in evil aspect.

It is certainly not an auspicious rule for queens of the May, since Venus frowns on women's activities and it will be difficult to arouse admiration or enthusiasm.

Persons in high place and those of advanced age probably will be difficult to deal with while this rule prevails.

There is a sinister sign for labor, making for disputes with employers, who will be exceedingly unyielding.

The Moon today is in Leo, a fiery, fixed and masculine sign which governs the heart and upper back.

Until nearly 3 o'clock today it is held unfortunate to undertake important affairs.

Initiative that carries with it big ultimate fulfillment should be postponed, for this day's planetary government may thwart well laid plans.

Lovers should be wary under this direction of the stars which makes for disappointments. Women may find suitors or fiances domineering and difficult to please.

This is not a lucky day for those who produce new plays, and theatres in many cities may record bad business.

There is a promising sign for mental healing, which will divide popularity with hydropathy in the coming months.

Mars is in a place that gives warning of adverse conditions for land and agriculture in certain parts of the country.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of rather an exacting year. These subjects of Taurus should beware of speculation.

Children born on this day probably will have very eventful careers. Girls may meet with misfortune through unwise marriage.

Today's Poem

A PRAYER, IN THE PROSPECT OF DEATH

O Thou unknown, Almighty Cause
Of all my hope and fear!
In whose dread presence, ere an hour,
Perhaps I must appear!

If I have wander'd in those paths,
Of life I ought to shun;
As something loudly in my breast,
Remonstrates I have done;

Thou know'st that Thou form'd me
With passions wild and strong;
And list'ning to their witching voice
Has often led me wrong.

Where with intention I have err'd,
Or frailly stept aside,
Do Thou, All Good! for such Thou Art,
In shades of darkness hide.

Where with intention I have err'd,
No other plea I have,
But, thou art good; and goodness still
Delighteth to forgive.

—Robert Burns.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

What knowledge is of most worth?

Herbert Spencer's answer is Science.

CLARK KINNAIRD

Science is knowledge reduced to LAW and embodied in SYSTEM.

For direct self-preservation which we call gaining a livelihood, the knowledge of the greatest value is—science.

For the due discharge of parental functions, the proper guidance is to be indispensable key is—science.

For that interpretation of national life, past and present, without which the citizen cannot rightly regulate his conduct, the indispensible key is—science.

Alike for the most perfect production and highest enjoyment of art in all its forms, the needful indispensable key is—science.

And for purposes of discipline—intellectual, moral, religious—the most efficient study is once more—science.

* * *

"Necessary and eternal as are its truth, all science concerns all mankind for all time," Spencer observes.

"Equally at present and in the remotest future, must it be of incalculable importance for the regulation of their conduct, that men should understand the science of life, physical, mental, and social; and that they should understand all other science as a key to the science of life."

* * *

And yet the knowledge which is of such transcendent value is that which, in our age of boasted education, receives virtually the least attention.

While this which we call civilization could never have arisen had it not been for science; science forms scarcely an appreciable element in what men call civilized training. Moreover, in certain states of the union, we find states actually passing laws forbidding the teaching of science!

* * *

Paraphrasing an eastern fable, we may say that in the family of Knowledges, science is the household drudge, who, in obscurity, hides unrecognized perfections.

"To her," remarks Spencer, "has been committed all the work; by her skill, intelligence and devotion, have all the conveniences and gratifications been obtained; and, while ceasecessly occupied ministering to the rest, she has been kept in the background, that her haughty sisters might flaunt their fripperies in the eyes of the world."

But no super-prophet is needed to tell us that the time is coming when the positions will be changed and science will reign supreme.

Let us look forward to that day.

Timely Views

"The United States is destined to lead the world in commerce and thus in political influence, but the American character is a curious blend of idealism and chicanery." So says the Very Rev. William Ralph Inge, dean of St. Paul's cathedral in London and known as the "Gloomy Dean." He has come to the United states to lecture at Yale.

"America and England have never understood each other," he said, "and the misunderstandings often have been inconvenient and sometimes dangerous.

"It is doubtful whether we have improved matters by the mealy-mouthed flattery which we are accustomed to use in private, when we speak of America. Knowledge that we could not defend Canada from invasion has obliged us to put up with affronts from the United States which we would not have stood from any other nation.

"The fault has been almost all on the side of America. It is right to remember we need their friendship much more than they need ours, and we have to thank them for that marvelous unprotected frontier of nearly 4000 miles between the United States and Canada.

"They care more what we think of them than we care what they think of us. I don't think they care more for money than we do. Money making is a great game, but not, I am afraid, a very honorable one.

"In spite of all disagreements, we must never cease to work for what would be the greatest of all safeguards for peace—a firm alliance and friendship between all English speaking nations, among whom the United States must and will inevitably be the largest and most powerful."

American supremacy, he explained, will come with the development of Pacific commerce, making North America the natural center of the world's wealth and trade. Great Britain's fortunes are close to an end, he asserted, but she will remain one of the world's greatest nations for many years.

"I do not represent the mind of the Church of England," he said recently. "Heaven forbid that I should try. I have no ax to grind; bootlicking is not to my taste; and I strongly believe in speaking the truth, especially to those who seldom hear it."

"Shall Adams St. Be Widened?"

(From Colorado south)

Hardly had we opened the door of our branch office here in Adams Square before we were asked to help widen Adams street from Colorado south to the city limits.

The plan suggested is to widen Adams street enough to make it a great north and south artery, so that if desired, it could be zoned later for business.

For the opening of South Adams street over the hill, into York boulevard is a short cut into Los Angeles, and a great traffic is commencing to go into Los Angeles that way now, and when the Fletcher drive short cut over the hill is opened, the traffic will be greatly increased.

While it is admitted that this widening would tremendously increase the property values in Adams street,—would it be fair to those who want a quiet residence street, and would rather have this impending great traffic switched to some other street?

For in Central avenue, where widening has increased some frontage to six hundred dollars a foot valuation, there are residents who desired that street to remain a quiet residence street.

We have no suggestions to offer, and, if the widening of Adams street is not according to the wishes of most of the property owners in Adams street, we will not become identified with any movement towards widening it.

But, if the property owners are in favor of it, and would co-operate towards making it a worthy supplement in beauty, lighting and paving to Central avenue, then we will co-operate. And Adams Square (corner Adams and Park) where the new theatre is planned, will serve as the hub of Adams street.

So we suggest that owners of frontage in Adams street, between Colorado and the south city limits, fill out the annexed coupon. If the sentiment is in favor of widening, we will do our share, and then some. But if not, we will not help the widening efforts.

Meantime, any suggestions as to the improving of Adams Square district will be thankfully received. We have an unusually capable lot of city officials at the present time and the planning commission are men of fine vision, who are anxious to cooperate with property owners for the welfare of Glendale. If the property owners in the Adams Square district get together with the right cooperative spirit, wonderful developments will take place.

PAINT FIRM SEES BUSINESS AHEAD

Middaugh Concern Lauds Glendale Support; Here Only Few Weeks

James Middaugh, proprietor of the Middaugh Paint Co., 404 South Glendale avenue, is high in his praise of Glendale as a business center. "We certainly have enjoyed a fine business, considering the fact that we have only been here a few weeks, and we want to thank the people of Glendale for their support," he said. This concern sells the well-known Bass-Hueter paints, enamels and varnishes besides imported and domestic wall papers.

The Bass-Hueter Co. is one of the biggest and strongest organizations of its kind in the world, according to the proprietor. "We guarantee every product we sell to be as represented, or the money will be refunded," he said.

This concern has furnished paint on several big jobs recently, including the new San Fernando hospital and a twenty-six unit court in Glendale. Hugh Simpson, the Bass-Hueter representative for Southern California, is now working the field in Glendale as a salesman for the Middaugh Paint Co.

Westinghouse Concern Has Years Of Experience Back Of Business

One of Glendale's most progressive battery and electrical concerns is the Westinghouse Battery station, corner of Glendale avenue and Colorado boulevard. George Miller, the proprietor boasts that his brand of service on starters, generators and ignition is second to none.

Mr. Miller states that nothing but genuine parts are used in making repairs. Westinghouse batteries are carried in stock for automobiles and radios, as well as accessories of all kinds, such as horns, stop lights, mirrors, etc.

"We have years of experience back of us," states the proprietor, "and can guarantee to do as good work as any station of this kind in Glendale." Batteries of all kinds are recharged and repaired here.

DIVERT UNSPENT PORTION OF FUND

Board Of Control Turns Over Amount To C. C. For Use In Boosting City

The board of control of the Glendale advertising fund, subscribed a number of months ago to defray the expenses of advertising the city, voted yesterday to place what money remains unspent in the hands of the Chamber of Commerce for general advertising purposes.

A motion that all funds on hand, and all money remaining due the advertising fund, be turned over to the chamber for exclusive use of advertising the city was made by Charles B. Guthrie after he had declared that the time has come for all organizations in the city to stick strictly to their own work and back the Chamber of Commerce as the one big civic body. The motion was seconded by C. W. Ingledue and carried unanimously.

Following this action, the board of control, through a second motion, offered by Lloyd H. Wilson and seconded by Frank Fox, voted to disband.

Never Functioned

The fact that all funds to date have been spent under the direction of the advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce and that the board of control has never functioned in the capacity for which it was created, was given as the reason for their action by members of the board.

They met jointly with the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and with D. H. Smith, member of both bodies, presiding. All members of the control board present voiced their approval of the transfer of the funds.

It was declared that over $9000 has already been expended for advertising out of the fund, that approximately $3000 remains in the treasury at the present time, and that there is $6300 yet collectible on pledges that are now due.

MERCHANT TAILOR ANNOUNCES SALE

Paul Rom, West Broadway, Has Special Consignment Of New Fabrics

Paul Rom, pioneer Glendale merchant tailor, is announcing a special sales event for a limited time only. This is an unusual reduction sale, states Mr. Rom, and is put on to celebrate the purchase of an extra special order from a large eastern mill of choice tweeds, worsteds, gaberdines and other high-grade fabrics.

Mr. Rom says the month of September of this year will mark forty-seven years for him in the tailoring business, five of which have been spent in Glendale, tailoring for many of Glendale's best-dressed men.

One pertinent fact, says Mr. Rom, is that every suit is guaranteed to fit perfectly, and the type of workmanship is of the very best. Every suit has the personal supervision of Mr. Rom, and in made in his Glendale workshop. The shop sometimes goes under the name of the Broadway Tailor Shop, and is located at 202 West Broadway, and is directly opposite Ralph's Grocery.

Meeting Set For Last Night Postponed Until Next Tuesday, May 5

Discussion of the proposed $1,200,000 bond election for elementary school purposes, scheduled for last night, was postponed by Richardson D. Thirteen have accepted membership on the committee and the appointment of the fourteenth member is expected today.

Tuesday night's meeting of the Board of Education and the committee of fifteen will be held at the board's offices, 117½ South Brand boulevard.

Take First Place in Shakespearean Division and With One-Act Play; Glenn Dolberg Best Soloist

Burbank triumphed again last night in the Glendale District Eisteddfod contests when the Burbank High school dramatic groups won in both the Shakespearean division and the one-act play from Glendale Union High school.

In the baritone solo competitions Glenn R. Dolberg won first place, Milford C. Jackson second, and Myron Carman third. Last night's contests took place at the Glendae Intermediate school before a large audience that filled the auditorium.

On their rendition of Act 4, Scene 1, of "As You Like It," the Burbank Shakespearean group was awarded an average score of 85.6 per cent. Adjudicators also announced this decision, praised the work of the Burbank school.

One-Act Play Wins

Burbank won in the one-act play also with a score of 81.3 per cent. In giving their decision in this contest the judges declared that the play was "as near perfect as could be expected from amateur performers.'

Beside the two dramatic groups, Burbank was represented by nine Burbank High school girls who danced the Sailor's Hornpipe in an exhibition number. Mrs. Margaret Bardick Gillette, president of the Drama League of America, Los Angeles chapter, awarded banners to Miss Katherine Allen, Burbank drama coach and to the Burbank girl dancers.

A second feature number was given by Kristine Krum, Burbank, winner of second place in the violin competitions. She was accompanied by Billy Burke.

Baritone Soloists

Awards were made to the baritone solo winners by Victor Edmunds, Welsh tenor. These competing in this division, were: Messrs. Dolberg, Jackson, Carman and C. Clifford Riggs. Mr. Dolberg was accompanied by Mrs. E. R. Ripley. He sang "Invictus" and "O Crescent Moon." Mr. Jackson sang "Invictus" and "Morning Hymn." He was accompanied by May Orcutt.

Other singers sang "Invictus" also. Mr. Carman, accompanied by Mrs. Carman, sang "Honor and Arms" in addition. Mr. Riggs sang "Hear Me Ye Winds and Waves." He was accompanied by Mrs. Riggs.

Judges in the baritone contests were Mr. Edmunds, Madame Isabel Curl Piana, coloratura soprano and wife of the Italian consul at Los Angeles; and Carl Gantvoort, soloist with the Metropolitan Opera Co.

Drama Competition

Judges in the drama competitions were Mrs. Gillette, Ellis Reed, noted stage manager and actor; and Dr. Allison Gaw, Shakespearean authority and head of the department of speech, University of Southern California.

Those participating in the Shakespearean presentations were Glendale High school under the direction of Harold Brewster; Jack Finch, Arthur Timothy, Cedric Maydwell, Arthur Cornelius, Clifford Wolcott, Marjorie Snow, Carolyn Ayars. Burbank High school, under the direction of Miss Katherine Allen, Ralph L. Zink, student director; Francis Riley, Donald Newcomer, Jane Curry, Robert Wellington.

In the one-act plays, the following took part: Burbank High school under the direction of Miss Allen with Miss Doris Hutchinson, student director,; Ralph L. Zink, Donald Newcomer and Kennett Rule. Glendale High school, under the direction of Mr. Brewster; Barbara Karntz, Edith Bayley, Winifred Brewer, Elizabeth Garton, Jean Henry, Leland Anderson.

Girl Dancers

Girls in the Sailor's Hornpipe dance, attired in chic white sailor costumes, were loudly applauded for their presentation. They were Harriet Valentine, violin; Estella Rae Austin, pianist; Bessie Matheson, Vera Mae Hammer, Esther Bertrand, Margaret Lamer, Mary Louise Hoyt, Ida Mae Lutze, Helen Bogardus, Mary Pomeroy and Miriam Soden.

Flapper Says Vaccination Is Mar to Beauty

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Rolled stockings, bare arms and one-piece bathing suits created an unusual government problem today when one of Uncle Sam's fair workers protested against a smallpox vaccination order issued by the United States public health service.

The pretty flappers declared they did not want to be vaccinated where the "mark would show." As a result, Surgeon-General Cumming, the government physician was ordered to vaccinate "above the knee."

Now it's up to the flappers.

England Sees Improvements Over Europe

LONDON, May 1.—The foreign office stated today it considered the general European situation greatly improved, giving three reasons for the optimistic view.

FIRST—Aristide Briand, French foreign secretary, has notified the British he plans to take up French debt and security pact negotiations where the Herriot ministry left off.

SECOND—The French reply to Germany's peace pact proposal will be ready in three or four days and is understood to be of a moderate nature.

THIRD—Chancellor Luther's speech in Berlin was considered satisfactory.

SILVER FOX SETS STYLE FOR SCARF

Confinement of Production To Breeding Farms Adds Exclusiveness

By AILEEN LaMONT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Silver fox is outdistancing all competitors so far as the newest scarfs are concerned. This beautiful fur has gained in popularity since its production has been confined largely to breeding farms. The quality of the pelts now is standardized and assured. The price range of the scarfs is a fairly wide one and can be made so because women nowadays know enough about furs to understand why one pelt is better and more costly than another.

The continued vogue of the turtle necked sweater in England where it is known as a "polo pull-on" has assured its popularity here this spring. Some of the newest sweaters are of silk crepe with only the collar, cuffs and button band of knit zephyr.

The blue bottle fly is a summer pest only obviated by screens but no screens are likely to keep the bluish green coloring of the insect from the list of fashionable collars. Paris dispatches declare that this bluish green shade is extremely popular for dresses, coats and tailored suits. Trimmings for the dresses consist of applique of a different shade of either blue or green.

Broad Brims

Nothing brings out the beauty of a picture like an appropriate frame. That is just what the new medium broad hats are, frames for charming faces. The brims, about three inches wide, curve around the face in front and almost disappear in the back. The crowns are rather high and round and the favorite trimming is a bunch of spring flowers drooping from the right side.

There are at least three American silk manufacturers whose printed crepes, satins and chiffons fully equal in quality and beauty any brought here from abroad. The printed designs are both elaborate and colorful and of sufficient size to give only occasional glimpses of the background. Many of the fabrics are printed with a border, making them wonderfully easy to use in home dress constructions.

50 Proposals Offered Woman Insurance 'Wiz'

BOTON, May 1.—Mrs. Elizabeth R. Card, divorced wife of an Everett, Mass., police lieutenant, who startled "insurance row" recently by selling $1,250,000 worth of life insurance in ten weeks, is not on the matrimonial market.

"I am not after a husband—not when I can make commissions of $30,000," Mrs. Card declared. "Men write to me from all over the country asking my hand in marriage. I've had fifty-proposals already," she said.

Hog-Feeding District Brings City's Protest

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 1.—Pigs are still pigs. A nice cut of succulent pork may be all right on the dinner table, but the prospect of Mr. Porker himself rambling about the backyard is repugnant.

The fight all came about when a new garbage contract for Kansas City was awarded. It was proposed to feed hogs in a certain district. A protest went up. If the mayor refuses to act in the matter the residents say they will obtain an injunction.

SEES POPULATION GAINS IN VALLEY

Advertising Campaign For District Is Planned; Will Raise Fund

"San Fernando valley citizens cannot be termed optimistic in expecting its 1926 population to exceed 150,000," A. Z. Taft, president of the Greater San Fernando Valley association, stated to leading business men from all sections of the valley at a meeting at the Hollywood Athletic club. "The San Fernando valley needs advertsiing. It has 'existed' too long for it to afford to continue further by hiding its opportunties and possibilities under a 'smoke screen.'

"Advertising brings population. Population, property values, and property values, prosperity. The 150,000 we expect is not optimism—we are merely claiming and getting that which rightfully be-San Fernando Valley association. by virtue of its close proximity to Los Angeles."

A large development and advertising program was outlined by Mr. Taft in which all of the property owners of the valley will participate through the officers and board of directors of the Greater San Fernando Valley association.

Flood Control

The valley's failure to keep pace with other growing sections of Los Angeles was attributed to lack of advertising and flood control. The latter condition, it was brought out by Taft, has figured materially in the valley's progress, especially from an industrial standpoint.

"Flood control has prevented the installation of a sewer system over the valley; the building of permanent bridges, the construction of Riverside drive, Riverside Truck Speedway, the building of east and west arteries; and in fact all undeveloped major projects can be attributed to the Los Angeles river channel and inability to control its waters," he said.

"Relief from this problem is assured in the passage of Assembly Bill 1085, which provides the machinery by which the County board of Supervisors can relieve the handicap.

Will Raise Fund

"Rapid transit, flood control, sewers, more highways, parks and playgrounds and advertising mean our population will be doubled in a year. That isn't optimism—they are undisputable facts," Taft concluded.

During the week of May 25 to 30, the Greater San Fernando Valley association will conduct a campaign among the valley's property owners, both resident and non-resident to raise $150,000 to advertise the valley as a whole.

Subscriptions to the fund will be obtained on the basis of the assessed valuation of the individual's property. A force of 650 men and women have been organized on a military basis to conduct the campaign.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, May 1.—W. S. Sandison has been elected president of the Burbank Rotary club and Clifford Thompson, secretary. J. O. Bishop is treasurer, and directors are J. H. Barnum, Charles Branaman, Al Dymond and Jake Swali.

Rights-of-way have been obtained for a forty-foot roadway on the north side of the Pacific Electric tracks from Grand View avenue in Glendale to Providencia avenue in Burbank, and for a forty-foot road on the south side of the tracks from Grand View avenue to Spazier avenue at the Burbank city limits, in connection with the proposed opening of Glenoaks boulevard east of Providencia street.

The Southern Pacific Co. must pay its prorated share of the assessment for improvement of Empire street in Burbank, as the result of action taken by the City Council. Mayor Crawford cast the deciding vote. The Southern Pacific claimed that it was not benefited as greatly as other classes of property by the street improvement.

An ordinance limiting the time in which tent shows can operate in Burbank to seven days was passed on the final reading by the board of trustees. All members of the board voted for the ordinance with the exception of Trustee Watson, who declared "the thing doesn't look fair."

The park and forestry commission will be hosts to members of the board of trustees at a dinner to be held tomorrow noon at Viceroy park. Park improvements will be discussed.

VERDUGO CITY, May 1.—With their first dinner dance party a huge success, members of the I. O. O. Your Very Existence Depends on Trees

UNLESS definite and adequate steps are taken to protect and replenish the forests of America, all industry and commerce will seriously suffer.

"In other lands has been taught the lesson of waste that followed denuding the forest slopes, and permitted erosion to end its work in flood and devastation. We in America must not be so thoughtless and profligate. We must have a policy of reforestation that will preserve the national interest, and at the same time permit use of the timber as it is needed."
—WARREN G. HARDING

One of the greatest economic problems before the American public today is "Trees." Only a very few people have any conception of the far-reaching effect of "Forests" on the very existence of the human race.

The development of the electric power that turns the wheels of industry—that illumines your homes and your streets—that vitalizes your household electrical appliances—that rivets the steel fabric of the greater skyscraper and the hull of the ocean liner—depends on "trees."

The ability of our soil to produce crops depends on "trees"—the production of the food you need to sustain your life depends on "trees." Rainfall, temperature, winds—all are governed by "trees."

The history of the rise and fall of nations shows the vital influence of "trees."

The Scarlet Scourge of The Forest

The greatest enemy to America's progress is Forest Fires, which are sweeping over our country with alarming rapidity. Fires are the result mainly of carelessness, and they are going to continue until each and every one of us know how intimately the products of the forest enter into our every day life, how forests benefit us and how essential they are to the life of the Nation.

Every American citizen should have this new book on Trees, which tells

HOW TREES SERVE HUMANITY

How trees purify the air...supply moisture...regulate rainfall... make fertile soil...prevent diminution of streams...modify the climate...give shelter to game...supply oils and balsams...furnish spices...safeguard health...furnish the basis of paper...carry telegraphic communications...maintain transportation...provide fruit and food...furnish clothing, fuel, lumber and beautify the country, etc.

The purchase of this $2.00 book carries with it a Field Membership in the American Reforestation Association.

This space, the preparation of the message and the illustration all contributed for the good of the cause.

GLENDALE KIWANIS CLUB

Through the sale of this book, membership fees, and donations, this national educational campaign will be carried on for the saving of America's Greatest Asset —Trees.

PLAYHOUSE STAR WINNING FRIENDS

Doris Lloyd's Popularity Is Gradually Growing as Stock Player

Doris Lloyd continues to boost her popularity by her artistry in "The Wonderful Thing," playing this week and all of next at Glendale Playhouse. Many Glendale people have seen Miss Lloyd in every part she has played at the Playhouse, and are just beginning to appreciate the depth of her stage experience and the soundness of her training.

They realize also that she has great natural aptitude and that she puts her whole heart and soul into everything she does. In the scene in "The Wonderful Thing" where she parts from the husband she has found unworthy she weeps real tears—and a good many of the audience weep with her. In the comedy scenes her delightfully sure, light touch brings the laughs.

Even while they are doing "The Wonderful Thing" so impressively, the Dobinson Players are working hard on "Manna," with which they open at the Philharmonic auditorium in Los Angeles Monday, May 11, for two weeks.

Changes In Cast

Some changes in the cast herald the return of a favorite both to Glendale and Los Angeles—Mrs. Gertrude Keller. She will do the part of "Pansy," who is converted by a Bible text which Peter Linden drops out the window of the government hospital.

Mrs. Keller was the first graduate of the Dobinson School of Expression. She had a satisfying and important stage career, playing in James Neal's company and in Morosco stock for several years. She married and retired from the stage.

Her husband and her home are still the all-important things in Gertrude Keller's life, but once in awhile Mrs. Dobinson coaxes her back for a limited engagement in something worthy of her really fine power.

TOM MIX HOLDING GATEWAY SCREEN

'Deadwood Coach' Feature Picture Current On Theatre Program

The bill for the Gateway theatre for today and Saturday features "The Deadwood Coach," the title role played by Tom Mix, supported by his wonder horse, Tony.

This picture is described by critics as a remarkable picturization of a thrilling journey through a romance land beyond civilization's frontier.

Richard Talmadge Laughs At Dangers; Five Acts Vaudeville Today

When it comes to providing real reel thrills, Richard Talmadge, appearing in "Laughing at Danger" at the Glendale theatre tonight and tomorrow, in connection with the big five-act road show, is in a class by himself, according to those who have been fortunate enough to have witnessed the actual filming of this picture. He leaps to the deck of a battleship from the topmast, jumps off cliffs, and does such intrepid stunts that causes the spectators to gasp.

Supporting the daredevil of the screen in this F. B. O. picture is Eva Novak, Joe Girard, Stanhope Wheatcroft, Joe Harrington and others. Mr. Talmadge was severely injured during the filming of one picture, a vertebrae being fractured, but he has recovered and laughs at fear with the same abandon as before his near-fatal accident.

On the stage will be five acts of more than passing merit. Zemater & Davaro present a triple horizontal bar act filled with thrills and laughs. Jerry Mack & Co., bring a character comedy playlet, "Mother's Boy," a rural back home story, with Jule LaWalt, Miss Mary Stuart and Jerry Mack in the feature roles. Douglas Graves & Co. will present a comedy sketch, "I Gotta Have Meat." The Harkins sisters will present a program of vocal numbers, ranging from jazz numbers to semi-classical selections. Raymond & Geneva are billed as "dexterous comicalities."

CRINOLINES USED IN COSMO FILM

Dress Of Grandmother's Day Worn by Miss Talmadge In New Picture

Norma Talmadge, in her current First National picture, "Secrets," now showing at the Cosmo theatre, wears the tight-fitting, wasp-waisted gowns which were in vogue sixty and seventy years ago. She decidedly is not in favor of them.

"Women of today have much to be thankful for," says Norma. "Our grandmothers were very sensible women in most things, but I am afraid that the society belles of other days must have pinched themselves unmercifully in order to achieve the waspy waist effects which were in vogue in those times.

"And how they endured the wire hoops and the heavy materials in their crinolines I cannot understand. Crinolines must have been a terrible nuisance, for they catch on nails and every projection within range.

"After wearing half a dozen kinds of crinoline gowns in 'Secrets,' the women who appear in the old illustrations in Harper's Weekly of the '50s and '60s seem like old friends. The average room in a bungalow would hold just about two and a half women today if they wore the crinolines of 1860. And I should imagine that a hundred women would fill any ballroom almost to suffocation."

Firm Reports Business Good in New Location

The Galvin & Woods Realty Co., located at the southwest corner of Glendale avenue and Colorado boulevard, report that business has been very brisk since moving to this new location about two weeks ago. They report they have been pleasantly surprised at the great amount of traffic that passes this part of the city, which is borne out by the fact that the business section in this locality of Glendale is growing very rapidly. Many new store rooms have been built and rented during the past four months. In addition to regular sales this firm has made a number of large exchanges the past sixty days, they report.

Wild Deer Made Tame By Domestic Kindness

RENO, Nev., May 1.—Wild deer are becoming domesticated in North Humboldt county, according to Chalmers McCormick, manager of the U. S. ranch.

"Forty of these animals," said McCormick, "have become so used to the life of ease on the ranch during the winter months that they refuse to leave. Some of them even refuse to associate with their wild brethren, remaining with domestic cattle. They permit a rider on horseback to approach them with as little trepidation as a cow."

OPINIONS FILED AT WHITE HOUSE

Spokesman Diagnoses What President Asks and Discourages

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The White House spokesman was disinclined to furnish any comment from President Coolidge on the German elections, confining the information given the press to domestic matters almost entirely.

1. The president has sent the report of the tariff commission on linseed oil to the agricultural department to get a report from them with relation to production of linseed oil to growing flax and the general effect on agriculture. He wants to find out whether a reduction of the tariff on linseed oil would be likely to be injurious to farmers of the west that raise flax and what the value of the flax is in general in order to see whether he ought to take any action on it.

He believes the tariff commission under present statutes undertakes to report to him on the difference of cost of production at home and the cost of production abroad and that report comes to him for such action as he wants to take on it. The tariff commission wouldn't take into consideration whether conditions were such as likely to affect agriculture or manufacture or anything of that kind but it would be unwise even if there is a difference in cost.

Diplomatic Question

Those other and outside elements are left for the president's consideration and the tariff commission doesn't consider them at all in making its report on the difference in cost and production. In determining the matter, if there is a difference in cost and production, the president will make a change in the tariff only on a basis satisfactory to the country. Of course linseed oil comes from flaxseed and the president has sent to the department of agriculture to get its report on what the probable effect would be on the change in tariff on linseed oil.

2. The president doesn't know of any developments in relation to the appointment of Dr. Culbertson to a diplomatic post. He had been in his present position on the tariff commission a very short time when he came to the president and said he had an understanding with President Harding that he was to try and provide him with some post abroad, either in the commercial field or the diplomatic field.

President Coolidge has had that in mind and conferred with Dr. Culbertson in relation to it several times and had it in anticipation. Until this spring there didn't seem to be any place that the president could offer him that was attractive and he has just continued as a member of the tariff board. Mr. Coolidge doesn't know how long the matter had been under consideration between Dr. Culbertson and President Harding but is of the impression it was for some time. There is no thought now of carrying out the plans of Dr. Culbertson, who has been here for the last three or four years, and President Coolidge is trying to find a place acceptable to him, but there are no new developments.

No suggestions for financing the merchant marine have been presented to the president and he hasn't at present in mind any plan nor is he expected to propose any plan or anything looking in that direction.

Building Trades

4. The secretary of labor reported at the cambinet meeting the settlement of two controversies in the building trades between the employers and the employes—one in Boston and one at Gary, Indiana. He said that the call for employes in the building trades is very strong and that more and more people are going into employment every day. That is interesting perhaps as an indication of a business development in the building trade. It does seem as if it would make developments rather keen in such industries as lumber and steel and many other materials. It tends to stimulate production in business activities. Also on such subjects as deposits in banks which were large, the clearings, according to Secretary Mellon, indicate a trade value larger than last year.

5. Former Senator Ball of Delaware had a conference with the president on Monday. The president thinks that what Mr. Ball discussed has all been written and reported to the public namely, the building situation in the District of Columbia. Mr. Ball said that to a very large extent the lack of building was due to the high cost of operation.

Cost of Loans

One of the fundamental difficulties is the cost of money. The district banks are loaning about 40 per cent of what is necessary to engage in building operations and the rest of the money is bought at rates that run from 12 per cent to 15, 18 and 20 per cent.

The conclusion that Secretary Hoover and the president have come to in their discussions is that one thing that could be done that would help the rent situation very much here would be to provide means of financing. That is, if a company could be established to provide loans at a reasonable cost, this 40 per cent could be gotten at 6 per cent interest and the rest of it at other than these high rates so that it would be possible to build at a less expense and at a less high rental.

Dr. Ball said that it was impossible to build houses at present except at a rental of $200 per year per room.

Loan Suggestion

The president told Mr. Ball to talk to Secretary Hoover, and see if they could provide any practical plan but the only practical plan he could see was to establish a company like a building loan association that would furnish capital to be used at a reasonable expense for building operations.

The president, however, doesn't want it to have any government connection with relation to furnishing the capital but thinks that if a company of that kind were established with a capital of not more than two or three million dollars it would very materially aid the building operations and at considerably less expense than at present when the cost is such that it is said to be necessary to charge $200 per year rental per room to get back their loans which makes rental of new construction in the district very high.

GOLD BASIS HELP TO WORLD TRADE

American Producers Hailing England's Move as Big Step Forward

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The return of England, Holland and Australia to the gold standard is being hailed by American producers and manufacturers as a tremendous step forward in the adjustment of world trade. They see in the move a gradual reopening and broadening of world markets to American materials. But they also see in it, a period of the stiffest competition they have ever faced.

The fluctuations of exchange have unquestionably exercised a depressing effect on the foreign trade of the United States. This has been especially true of the American farm products and farmers in this country stand to benefit from the restoration of the pound to parity despite the preference to colonial products.

But Great Britain owes this country money. She undoubtedly can and will repay those loans. To do so she undoubtedly will make the most intensive drive for world trade that has been witnessed since the war. At home she will "burn her own smoke." That is, she will make every effort to fill her needs with English or colonial goods in order to reduce the heavy balance of trade against her.

British Methods

British methods of sale and distribution are not American methods but they are none the less effective. The English manufacturer has never labored under the mistaken idea that it is possible to Anglicize foreign customers and he has been content to make what his customers wanted and pack it as they direct rather than try to educate them to British ideas. American manufacturers are coming to adopt the same attitude but there is no question that Great Britain has a tremendous hold on the markets of South America and the Orient which has not been entirely loosened by the depression since the war.

The effect of the restoration of the free movement of gold bids fair to have a better effect on American trade than the result of the McKenna tariff schedules with their imposts on automobiles, watches, musical instruments and some other luxuries. In some lines, the imperial preference list will aid the British colonies at the expense of the United States but these lines are not those which comprise the main bulk of Anglo-American trade.

The removal of 33 1-3 per cent duty on American automobiles did not prove the strong stimulant to export sales which was expected. Its restoration, it is felt, will not have an extremely depressing effect since the price range of the American cars is so wide that European makers cannot fill all classes of demand. The Ford sales will be helped since the British trade is supplied by the Ford Company of Canada, the products of which will come under the preference list.

Wool to Benefit

The recovery of the pound doubtless will add something to the cost of wool imported to this country from British possessions. While sterling was at a discount the effect was to give American buyers a certain discount on foreign invoices. Now that sterling is expected to fluctuate within a very narrow range, it will tend to make it easier for American dealers to gauge the market. For some time buyers of Australian wools here have been accustomed to name a basis for sterling about ten cents above existing market quotations as a measure of protection. This added substantially to the duty paid here and will no longer be necessary.

The duty on hops and sugar probably will affect American producers unfavorably. But the markets for fresh and dried fruits, which have increased tremendously in the last two years show no indication of being checked.

Bankers all over the country today were pointed a moral in the ease with which British loans here of $300,000,000 were raised. They declared that the loans were directly attributable to the fact that Great Britain has never suggested non-payment of debts or their cancellation.

PLAYMATE SHOT

Russian Wolf Blamed For $2,000,000 Loss

MOSCOW, May 1.—Wolves did more than $2,000,000 worth of damage in Russia during 1924, and funds are being asked for a campaign for their extermination. The animals last year killed 52,000 horses, 50,000 cows and calves, 25,000 other cattle and 13,000 hares.

Some districts report the loss of human lives due to wolves' attacks. In several instances the wolves have invaded towns and villages.

The hundredth anniversary of the locomotive will be celebrated in England, where the first public railway was opened on September 27, 1825.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Washington, the capital city, has a right to be sore! Everyone from the president down is being vaccinated. Smallpox has spread along the Potomac surprisingly the last few weeks and if there is anything not to be enjoyed, it is that malignant disease.

But fear of a disease sometimes is worse than the sickness itself. Fear of a pockmarked countenance, fear of the fever and the irritation of the epidermis (a polite word for skin), and other fears well grounded on experience, makes wholesale vaccination more or less mandatory.

Most smallpox is not fatal, if good care is given each individual case. However, in a city like Washington, where so many people live in hotels, apartments and rooming houses, without relatives and few friends during an epidemic, disruption of governmental agencies is not to be courted in quarantines.

Therefore the precautionary measures given so wide publicity yesterday.

The Welsh had an eye to creating community interest when they initiated what is known to the world as an Eisteddfod. The competitions of San Fernando valley schools and clubs in the various contests held here this week have builded a friendly rivalry that will be more marked as the years roll on and the Eisteddfod becomes a permanent institution.

Development of home talent, creation of acquaintanceships under favorable circumstances, the blending of inter-city interests in a common cause are among the results of Community Service which fostered the Eisteddfod.

Another agency devoted to the upbuilding of community enterprise of late are the service luncheon clubs. With the Roundtable added to the Rotary, Exchange, Kiwanis, Optimist, Lions and other civic organizations, Glendale bids fair to be well advertised as members of these various groups go hither and yon in the course of commerce and pleasure.

Ask any Sacramento Rotarian about Glendale and he will recall it is "the fastest growing city in America." Ask members of the Santa Ana Lions' club, or the Bakersfield Kiwanians, or the Long Beach Exchangeites, and they will tell you the same, from personal contact with fellow members from this community.

The Glendale City Council has gone on record as opposed to the increased gasoline tax. As an observer at the capital during the session of the California Legislature, the writer would humbly suggest that those opposed to an increased levy for new highway construction offer some other method of raising the funds.

Briefly, if a gasoline tax increase is not imposed, something must be done to continue the road building program. To the writer's mind bond issues are not satisfactory. Any more taxes on the rural districts of this state would be fatal to prosperity.

For those who have tired of cross word puzzles, a scheme for financing highways presents all the problems any thinking person would want to tackle in two or three months' spare time.

It might be well for the Automobile Club of Southern California, which openly opposed the gas tax increase, to offer a cash prize for the best solution.

'Spend Gloriously' Lady Astor Advises Women

LONDON, May 1.—"Your husbands have all got more money than they tell you about. My advice to women with husbands is—buy gloriously."

Lady Nancy Astor gave that tip at the opening of a bazaar for the benefit of a Sussex hospital.

"All men belong to the greatest trade union in the world," she said, "the trade union of men. Women do not want a women's trade union. We want to come in and simply break up the men's union."

Four Hundred Officers Hold Session To Determine Victory In Hawaii

HONOLULU, May 1.—With 400 representatives each for the "blue" and "black" forces, both claiming victory in the recent maneuvers off Hawaii, in attendance, the secret critique of the mimic war opened here today

Admiral Robert S. Coontz, commander-in-chief of the United States navy, and General J. L. Hines, chief of staff of the army, presided jointly with the chief umpires. Interest in the critique was exceptionally keen.

However, a secret report to the war department, which will give every detail of the maneuvers will be made and an announcement as to which side was victorious in the "Battle of Hawaii may then be made at Washington.

Film Actress Stolen Press Agent Says

LONDON, May 1.—John Harding, press agent for Betty Blythe, motion picture star, called in newspapermen today and read a cablegram which he said had come from Jerusalem and which said that Miss Blythe, while working on a picture had been kidnaped by brigands and that her director, Edward Jose, and a Dr. Markus, with the film company, had been wounded.

Harding later announced he had received a second cable, saying it was believed the kidnapers were hiding in the Galilee mountains and that Miss Blythe would soon be rescued.

The second cablegram gave the title of the picture which was being made and which will be exhibited shortly in the United States.

NEWS BY LETTER

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE STAFF

Furnished Exclusively to The Glendale Evening News

LONDON, May 1.—London is beginning to speculate on what particular form of entertaining Mrs. Harry Brown, wealthy widow, of Pittsburgh, will do this season to jazz up society.

Last season she did an unprecedented thing in having the Prince of Wales to breakfast after an all-night treasure hunt. Then she was occupying Norfolk House, the young Duke of Norfolk's town mansion.

This season she has taken an even bigger mansion, Spencer House, occupied last year by the Cornelius Vanderbilts, and she has hinted to her friends that she is not going to rest on her laurels. One of London's most prominent society women is mentioned as her social sponsor.

Mrs. Brown's daughter, it was reported recently, was to become the bride of the Duke of Leinster, a charming young man; handsome, but bankrupt. The rumor was promptly denied.

American debutantes, who are beginning to arrive in force, have a new idea in "jazzing" their luggage. Last year the craze was for stripes of brilliant colors. Spots and stars are now the vogue.

Balloon trousers, introduced at Oxford by American Rhodes scholars, have now become the rage in London. To wear trousers that show a vestige of sock is considered a sign of social barbarity. The new trousers are thirty inches in circumference at the knee.

Wearers are having some difficulty in manipulating the new creations in the fashionable ballrooms.

The new shoes being worn by fashionable women, particularly for the ballroom, are very smart, but very uncomfortable. They are more like sandals than shoes, have long, pointed toes and give no support to the instep. On the ankles of some of them are tufts of ostrich feathers, and the effect is that of a Winged Mercury.

Mayfair society is usually very well informed, but just now members of that select group are wondering about several things.

They want to know what was in the package which the Prince of Wales himself took down to the boat train for a New York steamer shortly before he left on his South African and South American tour, said package being addresssed to a certain house not far from Garden City, Long Island.

They can't understand why the young Duke and Duchess of York do not want to live in Buckingham Palace when they return from South Africa.

There is considerable speculation, too, as to the reason for the tacit dropping of the reported engagement between Prince Henry and Lady Mary Scot.

Efficiency Meeting Is Held at San Diego

The quarterly meeting of the Pacific Union Efficiency commission of Seventh-day Adventist sanitariums was held Wednesday at San Diego. Representatives from Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital were present. The five sanitariums in California, under the supervision of Seventh-day Adventist church, were represented. Attending the meeting from Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital were: Mrs. Daisy D. Harris, supervisor of nurses; E. G. Fulton, manager; J. R. Voris, credit manager, and James Howarth, chief accountant.

MACHINE OUTLOOK

PHILADELPHIA, May 1—Machinery manufacturers and distributors here expect business to be good for the remainder of the year, according to G. W. Eckhardt, of the Henry Disston and Sons Co., saw manufacturers. He says prices are low but that advances are not probable as increases, he believes, have served to check demand.

STEEL OPERATIONS

CLEVELAND, May 1.—Steel operations in northern Ohio continue to taper off. Iron making is at 70 per cent of capacity and one Cleveland furnace has been blown out. Prices are easy. Bolt and nut demand is furnishing a good volume of orders at firm prices, but rivets are being shaded $1 to $2 a ton.

UNCLE WIGGILY

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Copyright, 1925, By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

UNCLE WIGGILY IS LOST

Once upon a time Uncle Wiggily started out from his hollow stump bungalow with a strange look on his face. He also wore his pink, twinkling nose.

"Where are you going?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, who was getting the clothes ready for their Monday morning bath. "You look very determined; as if you were going to have your own way."

"I am," answered Uncle Wiggily with a laugh that showed his strong, white teeth. "I am going off to the deep, dark, dismal woods to look for an adventure."

"Oh, please don't do that!" begged the muskrat lady housekeeper. "You have never been to those woods!"

"All the more reason for going," said Mr. Longears, contrary like.

"You will get lost!" sighed Nurse Jane.

"Then I will find myself and come home," laughed the rabbit uncle. So off he hopped, over the fields and through the woods, where he often had adventures. But this time he was going farther off—to the deep, dark, dismal forest.

Just as he was hopping out of the woods near his bungalow, Uncle Wiggily saw Sammie and Susie Littletail, the rabbit children, gnawing bark from a clump of white birch trees, near the edge of the forest. The birches stood up like tall, slim ladies in pale dresses.

"Do not gnaw too much bark from the trees," warned Uncle Wiggily to the little rabbits. "You must eat bark, I know, but do not take too much from any one tree. And do not eat off the bark in a circle all the way around a tree for that will kill it. Be careful of the beautiful white birches."

"We'll be careful, Uncle Wiggily," promised Sammie.

"We'll only gnaw half a circle of bark from any one tree," said Susie.

"That is as it should be," spoke the bunny gentleman. Then, leaving his little nephew and niece at the clump of white birches, Uncle Wiggily hopped on toward the dark, deep, dismal forest.

"Uncle Wiggily was kind and thoughtful toward us," whispered one white birch tree to another.

"Yes," was the answer, "if he ever needs help I hope we may be there to give it to him." But the trees did not dream they could ever help the bunny.

However, as it happened, Mr. Longears found no adventure in the black forest. He hopped this way and he hopped that way, but nothing happened, and it was so dark and lonesome in the forest that not even the birds sang.

"I shall go back to my own woods," thought the bunny. "There I always have adventures." But, alas! When he started to hop out of the deep forest night had fallen and Uncle Wiggily found himself in the dark. "But I can hop across the meadow in the dark, as well as in the daytime," he said to himself.

So he started bravely off, but he had not gone very far before he bumped into a large rock.

"I must be on the wrong path," said the bunny, rubbing his pink nose, which he had hit against the stone. "I'll go the other way." So he did, but he had not hopped far before he bumped into a tree. "Oh, I fear I am lost!" sighed Uncle Wiggily, and so he was.

No matter how he hopped, he could not find the path home in the dark, and he did not know what to do. He thought he would have to stay out all night when, all of a sudden, he saw something pale waving in the blackness. It was like a white hand motioning to him to come toward it, and some soft voices called:

"Walk this way, Uncle Wiggily, and you will be lost no longer."

"Who are you?" asked the bunny.

"We are the white birch trees to whom you were kind," was the answer. "We stand on the edge of your own forest." So, plainly seeing the white trees in the dark night, Uncle Wiggily hopped toward their waving branches, which were like beckoning arms. Soon he was on the edge of his own patch of woods. And he knew his way through that with his eyes shut.

So it did not take him long to hop to his bungalow, though first he made a low and polite bow to the white birches for having helped him. And it was a long time before the bunny went again to the black forest. But if the kitchen chair doesn't roll over on its back and talk in its sleep, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the cuckoo.

BILL DING POEM FOUND AT YARDS

Epic Penned by Employe of Bentley Lumber Co. Is Brought to Light

By BILL DING

Written by Donald R. Gillin, Service Manager Bentley Lumber Co.

The employe of Bentley Lumber Co., situated at 460 West Los Feliz road, who mysteriously disappeared on the night of April 13, had written a poem, which was found in the few effects left on the unoccupied desk of the missing man.

Although Bill is gone, George Bentley wants Bill Ding to have the credit for his own ability of creating the wonderful things he says in the company advertising, and the things he writes about. The poem is as follows:

If you are living in a tent,
Build a home.
If you are sick of paying rent,
Build a home.
You can pay and pay and pay
To the landlord till you're gray;
He can kick you out next day—
Build a home.

If you hate to move around,
Build a home.
If content you've never found,
Build a home.
If you never seem to find
Just the house you have in mind,
If you want a certain kind,
Build a home.

Start to plan, begin to dream,
Build a home.
Start to save, begin to scheme,
Build a home.
Lay a little money by
Daily, weekly, monthly—why
It is easy if you try—

MAY DAY—CHILDREN'S DAY

"To know, love and serve childhood is the most satisfying, soul-filling of all human activities.

"It rests on the oldest and strongest and sanest of all instincts.

"It gives to our lives a rounded-out completeness as does no other service.

"No other subject is so worthy of service and sacrifice; and the fullness of the measure in which this is rendered is the very best test of a nation and race and a civilization."—G. Stanley Hall.

Today is May Day, the day dedicated to childhood, and on this day throughout the nation, special thought is being given on how we can best serve childhood.

We agree with Ellen Key, when she says, in The Century of the Child:

"We must see in the child the new fate of the human race; we must carefully treat the fine threads in the child's soul because these are the threads that one day will form the woof of world events. We must realize that every pebble by which one breaks into the glassy depths of the child's soul will extend its influence through centuries and centuries in ever widening circles. * * * Through our posterity, which we ourselves create, we can in a certain measure, as free beings, determine the future destiny of the human race."

But the future of the race seems far off. Besides seeing that the child is born with a heritage of mental and physical health, and attending to his physical needs for sunshine, fresh air, play, sleep, and proper rest, after his birth, we can best serve the child and thus experience "the most satisfying and soul-filling of all human activities" by realizing that the child is somebody now and as somebody now is entitled to sympathetic understanding and respect; by realizing that the child is not a small adult and that his contacts and experiences have not fitted him to reason and react as adults; by realizing that this individual the child, because of his lack of experience in life, should not be expected to have moral conceptions, more than an animal or a savage; by realizing that we should make demands upon the powers of the child and on his capacity for self-control, only proportionate to the special state of his development.

We can best serve the child by having him learn from his own experiences that certain acts bring certain consequences, and that as soon as possible he associate right-doing with happiness and satisfaction, and wrong-doing with unhappiness and dissatisfaction.

All this, of course, means that we have to know the principles of discipline, of child psychology, of ethics, of life itself. Knowing how to best serve the child is a subject of such vast importance, that we believe the training for parenthood should with a medical certificate of health, be a requisite for a marriage license, and we believe that it is up to us, as part of our civic duties, to see that this training for father—and mothercraft—parenthood—and the principles of home foundation, should be part of the curriculum of the schools.

Meanwhile, if we ourselves have not had this training, we must put ourselves in touch with the best thoughts on the subject through classes, if possible, and if not, through the written word; while we are doing this, we must realize that the child unconsciously absorbs the mental and moral atmosphere which surrounds him; that if he is brought up in an atmosphere of kindness, generosity, tolerance and charity, he himself will surely manifest these traits.

CHARMING SURROUNDINGS

This is the time of year when the adventurous souls want to go away to new surroundings, and the unadventurous want to change the surroundings they're in. By that I mean that the "call of spring," the "wanderlust" has reached an acute stage about the beginning of May. We want a change from the faces and objects, we've been looking at all winter. But some of us can't get away, and some of us don't want to, and the result, at least in my case, is a passionate desire to do over the house I'm living in.

It's a harmless and inexpensive way of using up the restless energy that comes at this season, and I recommend it to all my readers. There is a great deal of satisfaction in finding out that the rooms you have been spending yours days in are not suited to your temperament, and in doing them up so they are. If you have been gloomy and depressed all winter, for instance, mightn't it be due to the fact that you've been living in a room covered with red wall paper and with only one window? Red has a bad effect on the nerves, as any doctor or psychologist will tell you. Do the red room over in primrose yellow with white woodwork and see how much better you feel:

Make your home surroundings gay and attractive, remembering their effect not only on yourself but on your friends. Choose colors that set you off, remembering that your home is your background, and that when your friends think of you they must think of it also. Use yellow for north rooms, light colors for small rooms, not too much design in any room.

James K. G.—Continue with the astringent and cream treatments every week, and massage cream into the lines each day. Such lines are not serious at all at your age and after you build up your health again they will be gone even if you did nothing about them meantime. The drooping at the corners of the mouth come from sagging muscles, but it is accentuated when you become discouraged about it. This too, will disappear as you build up.

Pretty backgrounds make pretty people

Pale Face—You can work up on the skin a great deal of stimulation by using a soft flesh brush, and it will also help in clearing off the blackheads.

Tomorrow—The Arms.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Today I am going to give directions for canning asparagus with a pressure canner. Next week I shall describe the process of canning it by the Hot-Water-Bath Method (that is, using your wash boiler as a canner).

The United States department of agriculture, in its Miscellaneous Circular No. 24, says: "It is desirable that the pressure canner be equipped with both thermometer and pressure gauge. In using the pressure canner, wait until the steam flows from the pet cock before closing; otherwise the pressure is no indication of the temperature. Commence to count time when the pressure reaches the desired point, not before. A short pre-cooking of the fruits and vegetables shrinks them and makes it possible to fill the jars hot. No food is lost if the hot liquor that has cooked out, is used instead of hot water, to fill the jars. The material should be filled into the jars as hot as possible so as to decrease the time required for the material in the center of the jar to reach the temperature of the canner. This is especially important with thick, pasty mixtures, since they heat through very slowly."

After washing the asparagus, tie it into bundles and stand these in a deep saucepan which contains enough boiling water to rise over the tough, lower ends of the stalks. Cover pot tightly and let the water boil four to five minutes. Another way to prepare this vegetable for canning is as follows: Cut the asparagus into half-inch lengths and bring these bits to the boiling point in water to cover, then pack in hot jars. By either method, use the water in the saucepan to fill the jars to within one-fourth inch of top, after packing the vegetable in the hot jars (of course you may need additional hot water). I assume that you have previously sterilized the jars by boiling them, empty, in clear water to cover, for fifteen minutes.

Next, put on glass caps and rubbers; put up top wire but do not press down side wire. Place the jars in your pressure canner for forty minutes at ten pounds pressure, or at 240 degrees Fahrenheit. Press down side wire when you take them out.

Tomorrow—Patching Our Plastered Walls

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

GILMORE OILERS PLAY MERCHANTS

Local Lads Meet Fast Team Tomorrow Afternoon; Laundry Sunday

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

Baseball fans in Glendale who recall with pleasure the showing made by the Gilmore Oilers against the oldtime Glendale White Sox team, will tilt their derbies a little more to the left, take one slant at the sun, and then trek down to the ball park tomorrow afternoon to see the Oilers in action against the Glendale Merchants. Perhaps there is no semi-pro team in Southern California that puts up a more colorful game than the Oilers, and Ansonites will be anxious to find out how the local players stack up against the Gilmores.

The Gilmore Oilers have been going like a house afire with Mike File and Bobby Wallace looking after the pitching assignments. The team has been cleaning up in an uncanny, consistent manner during the months that have passed since they tried to pound a victory over the White Sox.

On the other hand, the Glendale Merchants have clearly and decisively demonstrated that they have more than a glove apiece, startling some of the fans by turning back the pick of Southern California. They have not lost a game since they started playing under the Merchants' banner, and do not intend to spoil a good record tomorrow.

Farewell Contest

Manager M. R. Bacom, who will take his team east this summer, announces the gate will be open to all on Saturday afternoon, but on Sunday when the Merchants appear in a farewell performance against the Blue Bird Laundry team, the usual small admission charge will be made. The Blue Birds were billed for last Sunday but a mistake in the booking set them over to next Sunday.

The Merchants will leave Glendale on May 4 for Mesa, Ariz., where they will play May 7. They play at Globe, Ariz., on May 8, Phoenix on May 10, Nogales on May 14 and 15, Deming, N. M., on May 16; Juarez, Mex., on May 17; Clovis, N. M., on May 21 and 22; Kansas City on May 24, and Chicago, May 30 and 31. At Kansas City they meet the Summe Dairy, the team which represented Kansas City in the semi-pro tournament last year.

Manager Bacom's trip is all arranged except for sufficient Glendale pennants to put on the four cars the players will drive on the tour. Anyone wishing to aid in the advertising of Glendale by means of these pennants are asked to bring them to the ball park, Sunday.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, May 1.—The sort of fight that enabled Washington to win last season's pennant and world championship—the never-say-die spirt—is being admirably exemplified in this young season. Washington has won nine out of twelve starts, and of the nine victories, three—a full third—were won in the ninth inning.

The Washingtons, it must be conceded, are the finest lot of comeback players in the game today. Their abhorrence to a licking, even up to the last whisk of the umpire's broom over the plate in the last half of the ninth inning, has made them admired of all men.

Critics and fans who couldn't "see" them in 1925 now are rushing to get on the Washington band wagon; and they are being picked far and wide to repeat last season's success.

Suppose that Washington should win the pennant this year with ninety victories. At the present rate the team is going in the ninth inning rallies that would mean some thirty games so won. What a program of baseball that would be. If the owner of a team could advertise such a schedule in advance he would pack the stands every day of the season, for the fans would be taking no chances of missing one of those hair-raising ninth inning finishes.

Of the other nine games so far won, Washington salted away one in the first inning, two in the second, two in the fourth and one in the fifth. If these figures prove anything, they prove that Washington can make lightning strokes both starting and finishing.

Not many teams in their league can so constantly set into a winning fight against odds as the Washingtons have shown themselves able to do. It isn't that they rally with big bunches of runs, but they maintain an even, or almost even standing up to the finish, and then spurt ahead with the needed one or two tallies, just as a track man sprints ahead of his rivals on the home stretch.

Very frequently it is Peckinpaugh who wields the club. He is a dangerous old bird, is Peckinpaugh, coming from dangerous old stock. Out in Ohio, in the days when his dad played ball, likely as not it would be Peckinpaugh, pere, who would belt home the winning run.

Detroit is having a run of luck just the reverse of Washington's. It has lost three contests in the ninth inning and one in the fifteenth. Maybe that is the old law of percentages working again but it is not one which is pleasant to Detroit.

Ninth inning victories cannot be credited to luck on the part of Washington. The players have got to be given credit for them. They are steeped in the idea that the way to win ball games is to keep fighting until the last man is out.

Starting in 1924 the team fought its way to the top in exhibition games and then in the pennant race, then in the world series. Now they are at it again, fighting on the same old basis, only more so. You've got to give them credit.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Gene Tunney, in leaving for his quarters up the state, was his usual modest self in speaking of the fight for which he is now going to prepare.

"I know I am stronger," he said, "and I think I am a better boxer than ever before. I don't think the bout will be a defensive one, so far as I am concerned."

Since Tommy Gibbons' manager declares that so far as Tommy is concerned the bout will be far from a defensive one, it looks as though both fighters will have a chance to show how they can stand the gaff. This is something they have not yet been called upon to do.

If Gibbons takes after his brother Mike, however, he will be able to digest a whole lot of manhandling. Mike had only one chance to prove his gameness but the way he accepted that opportunity left no doubt as to his courage. That chance curiously enough occurred in his last battle.

It was in this city back in 1922. Mike had signed to fight his fellow townsman, and former middleweight champion, Mike O'Dowd. A new canvas was spread over the platform. Beneath that new canvas was the cause of what happened to Mike. Some persons unknown had added an extra layer of soft felt padding to the usual ring padding. The idea was to hamper Gibbons' footwork against the short, savage rushes of an aggressive opponent. And it worked to perfection.

Gibbons was unable to account for his utter inability to evade the short smashing blows of his rival and spectators were treated to the unusual spectacle of the super clever Michael taking the worst beating of his long career. A broken nose, a deep gash over the eye and a smashed ear were the mementoes Gibbons carried out of that ring.

Since Tommy resembles his brother in so any ways there is small doubt that he will endure punishment, if he is called upon to do so, as manfully as did Michael.

Lightweight Tourney Is Planned for Coast

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—The Pacific coast is to have its own unofficial lightweight elimination tourney, according to an announcement made here by Dick Donald, promoter. Ace Budkins, holder of the Pacific coast lightweight championship, will meet Tommy O'Brien, conqueror of K. O. Chaney in the New York lightweight elimination contests, in a ten round bout at the Ascot speedway on June 6.

One the same card Sammy Mandell of Rockford will trade punches with Phil Salvadore, Los Angeles fighter, who now holds a decision over the speedy middle west boxer. The winners of the two bouts, Donald said, will clash here on July 4, the winner to claim the world's lightweight championship. Donald declared he would give the winner a belt emblematic of the title.

TEN INNING TIE

Fremont and Roosevelt battled to a ten-inning 8 to 8 tie on the Y. M. C. A. field yesterday. The game will be played over at the end of the Junior city league season. Ellry starred for Fremont by making several sensational catches in the outfield.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Springing from the winter chrysalis exponents of athletics in all branches of sport, save those, of course, that relate exclusively to the closed months, are disporting themselves upon the turf, cinder and clay. And everywhere the burgeoning athletic spirit is encountered.

Today, at an uptown club where representatives of many universities of the various sections are wont to foregather for luncheon, one ran into fact, opinion and rumor on every hand.

A man just in from California asserted that the University of California football eleven is going to sweep the far west next fall. If Glenn Warner and his Stanford outfit could not skin the Bears in 1924, in view of the material at Palo Alto, they will certainly, said the westerner, not succeed this year. For California will be loaded for bear after a comparative off year.

Spring practice at Madison, according to a former Badger athlete, indicates that the Wisconsin eleven will require a whole lot of beating next fall, and, by the way, he is far less optimistic concerning the prospects for the crew from Lake Mendota.

The University of Kansas, it was reported, has a football squad out for spring practice, almost every man of which is more than six feet tall and built in proportion. Reports concerning speed, agility and knowledge of the game will have to come in, though, before the Jayhawkers can be touted as likely to clean up the corn belt.

Then everyone at the club fell to arguing as to which sort of ball yields forth the most alluring sound when smartly and skillfully struck. One man held that the most inspiring impact in the world is that of the ashen bat of a swiftly thrown ball, indeed, it is a sharp, business-like whack that never fails to bring thousands to their feet as one man with that long-drawn sigh which one hears when the thoroughbreds are off in an important turf event.

But there is a world of thrill, as a crack golfer who was present pointed out, in the click that proclaims a golf ball well hit, especially satisfying to the man who delivers the blow, but since this is very much the rule when good, or even fair players meet the thrill which attends it must be allowed to be of lesser magnitude than in baseball.

The thud which follows the kicker's instep against the pigskin is usually lost in the excitement attending the punt, while there is nothing that stirs the imagination or spirits in the rather flat sound that attends the stroke in lawn tennis. In the end even proponents of sports other than baseball were inclined to yield the palm, so far as stirring qualities are concerned, to the baseball and bat.

MOORE GOES EAST

Offered a ten-round match with Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, which would open the outdoor season in East Chicago on May 26, Pal Moore, famous Memphis heavyweight, leaves Los Angeles this morning for Chicago. A broken rib has forced Moore to rest for the past several weeks. Pal obtained a draw in his one start here, a four-rounder against Jimmy McLarnin at the Vernon coliseum in December.

DOWNEY WINS TITLE

By defeating Puente 4 to 2 yesterday, Downey high school won the Valley championship and earned themselves the right to play for the championship of Southern California. Edmondson, who relieved Ross in the box for Downey, pitched a good game and held the Puente outfit scoreless.

SMITH ON COAST

Lyman Smith, leading base stealer and .300 hitter, who has been pastiming in the Western league for the past five years, and who purchased his release from the Wichita club a few days ago, may be in a Coast league uniform in the near future. He is an outfielder and bats left-handed.

XVII—Cause and Effect

High blood pressure often develops in high-strung men who lead a strenuous life, who work on their nerve force. However, much of the ill effects of the so-called "strenuous life" are really the result of too much food, too many smokes, late hours, and a bad care of body generally, rather than the result of hard work. Auto-intoxication always makes the high-strung man more nervous.

The man who develops high blood pressure has overeaten for many years, and never with a thought of thoroughly masticating the food, otherwise he never would have high blood pressure, as mastication is a positive preventive for overeating and the evil results that follow.

Much of our pleasure comes from eating, and it is often hard to see why we cannot eat what we want. Nevertheless, we fill our blood stream with dangerous toxins generated from too much unmasticated, fermenting food, putrifying in our intestines like so much garbage in a garbage can. This causes the kidneys and other organs of excretion to constantly overwork. These organs soon begin to lag in their efforts to keep the blood clear of toxins. The accumulation of which causes high blood pressure.

In nineteen cases out of twenty of high blood pressure there is intestinal gas, indication is found in the urine, and in addition all all the other evidences of fermentation and putrefaction of unused food in the bowels are present. Added to these food poisons we often have the poisons of tobacco, coffee, liquor and drugs. Germ poisons from chronic infections such as diseased tonsils, pyorrhea, or other tooth infections from wrong eating will help to keep the blood pressure above normal. To sum it all up, food is at the bottom of it all, especially unmasticated food.

THREE GLENDALE YOUTHS IN MEET

Maydwell, Bradbury And DeParcq Participate In Finals Tomorrow

BY ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Although practically no chance remains of winning the meet, Glendale's three athletes who are still in the competition are out to do their best in the Southern California interscholastic finals at the Los Angeles coliseum tomorrow. "Seedy" Maydwell, Ellsworth de Parcq, and Bill Bradbury are the three Red and Black trackmen left in the meet.

Maydwell will do his stuff in the 440-yard dash and is practically sure of finishing in one of the first three places. "Junior" Hanford of Manual Arts and Gloege of Covina are the other two men who are given the chance of finishing in one of the first three places. Maydwell and Gloege ran a dead heat in the Central League track meet held at Glendale, but since that time Maydwell has cut several tenths of a second from the Central League mark.

The 440-yard dash with Maydwell, Gloege and Hanford, who is also a fast man, participating, will certainly provide some real thrills and ought to bring the hardest-boiled spectators to their feet. The winner will certainly be a rightful heir to his gold medal.

De Parcq and Bradbury, the two other Glendale athletes in the competition, are slated for some results tomorrow. In the elimination hurls Bradbury bested them all in both the shot and the discus and he is sure of at least a few points in both events. De Parcq, although not quite as good as his team-mate, is a good man and should bring home a few more digits for Glendale.

FIRPO TAKES ON WEIGHT ON TRIP

Report Reaches New York He Now Tips Scales At About 285 Pounds

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Luis Firpo, the man with the bearded chest, has reached a stage of physical decay where he never again will be able to fight if he wanted to, according to a statement made today by Billy McCarney. Tex Rickard, Jimmy De Forrest, and other promoters who have kept Firpo neatly filed away by mental card index against the possibility of a sensational comeback, might just as well abandon the idea, McCarney declared. Firpo, he said, will not fight again because he cannot.

McCarney used to be Firpo's "yes" man but now he says "no." Luis had never given him anything much, so one day in a spirit of generosity he gave him the air.

William, therefore, suffers not a qualm in exposing any of Firpo's secrets, if such they be. He says Luis weighs 285 pounds and intimates that he can't seem to keep his abdomen off his knees.

"No one will ever be able to get Firpo back into the condition that would allow him to enter the ring," McCarney said. "He could have remained one of the greatest box office attractions of the time had he taken care of himself. He has been living off the fat of the land abroad and while in Europe did practically nothing but eat and sleep. One of these fine days he will become thoroughly rested, I am sure."

That Firpo himself entertains no illusions about himself was indicated when he boarded a steamer for South America some days ago almost coincident with Jack Dempsey's decision to go to Europe. If Luis thought he had anything left he would have remained, as was, until Dempsey's arrival in the hope that some foreign come-on might be found to promote another Dempsey-Firpo frolic.

MONEY TO LOAN

MONEY IMMEDIATELY AVAILABLE

We will loan you money for all kinds of building purposes, also to refinance your present loans and in some cases where you intend to build at once we may be of assistance to help clear a small balance due on your lots. We loan 50% of our appraisal value on first paper and 25% on second. Interest 6½, 7, and 8 per cent, 3 to 15 years. Will give you free information as to financing, drawing plans, and in working out immediate refinancing. We will build for you and save you money. Come in and lay your case before us. No obligations. H. L. Miller Co., 109 S. Brand Blvd, Glendale 853.

I THINK THIS OVER

Does it crowd you to pay what you are now paying on your trust deed and mortgage per month? Let me refinance these two papers for you into one paper and you pay only a small monthly payment on the whole. A loan like this is attractive to a buyer when you want to sell your place, as small monthly payments is what makes the sale.
See L. Alexander with Alexander & Son, 202 N. Central for full details.

Borrow and Build

Put that vacant lot to work. Borrow and build now while costs are low. We will make liberal loans for the building of new homes. Even if your lot is not fully paid for we may be able to help you. Closed Saturday. Open all day Sunday and on Tuesday evenings.

OPTIMISTS HEAR BUSINESS EXPERT

Dr. Stanley Tells Club at Noon Luncheon Facts About Efficiency

Dr. A. Albert Stanley of the Sawyer School of Business spoke to Glendale Optimists today on personal and business efficiency. In quoting statistics to show the low rate of efficiency in American business Dr. Stanley said that one-tenth of the mind power of the nation is being used at the present time. Four per cent of the men in the nation are doing all the thinking, planning and managing, and 95 per cent of America's merchants are inefficient and 75 per cent of them are doing business at a loss.

"To be a success one must be willing to pay the price in study and training," Dr. Stanley declared. "He must know himself, must have a confident estimate of his own ability, must be morally straight, must know what he is doing and, finally, must know men well enough to deal with them squarely and efficiently.

Bake for Scouts

Optimists and members of the Optimist Boy Scout troop will be guests of Dr. and Mrs. Gerhard Kaemmerling at a wienie bake tonight. It was announced at the meeting today that H. V. Adams, banker, and I. R. Barksdale have been added as members of the club. An announcement of the new Optimist Boys' Home at Pasadena that will be dedicated tonight, was made by Dr. C. R. Logan. Dr. Logan also read a report on the work done by the Optimist club in furnishing milk to undernourished school children. Letters of appreciation from school principals were read. The Optimists voted to continue this service.

Arthur Voelker will lead community singing at Optimist club meetings in the future. At next week's meeting William Marshall, district deputy of the Optimist club International will speak in Glendale. Glendale Fire Losses Lowest Ever Listed

Fire losses in Glendale during April totaled only one-half cent per capita, one of the lowest averages ever recorded, according to records in the office of Fire Chief A. H. Lankford today.

Total fire losses amounted to only $325, although there was a total of $96,500 property and $46,200 contents, a total in all of $142,700, menaced in blazes. Including brush fires, the Glendale department made only thirteen calls during the month, a decrease of two runs over March.

The March per capita loss totaled 35½ cents because of the disastrous fire at the plant of the Crystal Ice Co. February per capita loss was slightly under one-half cent.

FLEET'S WARFARE HALTS RADIO TEST

Short Wave Experiments Held Up Pending End Of Maneuvers

By ROBERT MACK
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The war game being played by the United States fleet around Hawaii has halted temporarily short wave radio tests carried on between the fleet and the naval research laboratory at Washington.

In connection with the announcement today satisfaction was expressed at the headquarters of the naval communication service over the results of the tests up to the time they were interrupted. From these experiments, officials said, the navy department has every reason to believe that future trials will clear up much of the uncertainty of the short wave.

So far the forty meter wave has been the most trustworthy of the half dozen wave lengths below a hundred meters that were used by the fleet in communicating direct to the capital. Exchange of messages on forty meters was carried on successfully on several occasions, the best results coming for the 2 hours just before daybreak, eastern standard time. This was expected, it was said, inasmuch as these hours are the only ones in which darkness reigned over both the fleet and the Washington receiver.

Blame Is Placed

Less successful results obtained on the other wave lengths included in the tests are believed to have been due to trouble with the transmitters aboard the flagship Seattle.

Reports have been received from several of the amateurs who listened in on the early tests, all of them announcing good results on the 40 meter wave length. Commander A. Hoyt Taylor, U. S. N. R. F., who is supervising the work at the naval research laboratory is confident that much important work will be done later on wave lengths of 20 meters.

An instance of how the short wave proved to be a capable pinch hitter for the regular high wave transmitter of the navy department was revealed today. On Friday night of last week communication between the 900 kilowatt naval station on the Pacific coast and the naval communication service at Washington was entirely disrupted by a barrage of summer static.

Officials were on the point of suspending the regular traffic when it was suggested that the short wave transmitter operating on a hundred watts be substituted for ten thousand watt high wave transmitter. The big tubes were turned out and the small ones lighted and it was discovered that the short wave was creeping into the capital below the band of static with unusual success. The entire traffic for the evening was therefore handled over the 100 watt route.

OCEAN TREASURE GOAL OF TRAWLER

Young Ex-Naval Officer to Seek Golden Fleece In Bottom of Ocean

By ROWLAND WOOD
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, May 1.—Romance, with a real gold lining, pervaded the atmosphere of the Tebo Yacht basin in Brooklyn Wednesday as a little group of visionary realists put the finishing touches to preparations aboard the trawlers' Foam and Spray. America's 1925 argosy of the golden fleece.

Early this month the dinky but highly efficient, little trawlers will push off for the waters off the Virginia coast and before the summer is ended—at least such is the conviction of the crews—they will have wrested between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 in gold and jewels from Davy Jones' locker.

It's a treasure hunt to strike envy to the hearts of society folk who recently have been thrilling to the English game of land lubber treasure hunting.

And if it succeeds, it will mark the beginning of a new industry in America. There have been requests from these shores before for sunken treasure, but all have failed for lack of organization and scientific conduct. This time John F. O'Hagan, young ex-lieutenant commander of the United States navy, has rallied all the aides of science to his cause, and he is planning to use his share of the proceeds to finance further expeditions by the O'Hagan Salvaging syndicate, which he heads.

Immediate Objective

The immediate objective is the treasure of the Ward liner, Merida, which was sunk off the Virginia Capes in 1911, with a rich cargo of gold and jewels. The Merida lies in 204 feet of water, something like 100 feet deeper than salvage operators ever have worked successfully. But Skipper O'Hagan and Frank J. Crilley and F. C. C. Neilson, deep-sea divers whom O'Hagan has associated with him, have been almost to the Merida's hulk. The Foam and Spray are equipped with the last word in deep-sea diving apparatus, apparatus in which Crilley has descended 300 feet—a world's record. The divers will work under air pressure so intense that it will require three hours of "easing off" of the pressure as they come to the surface after a dive, in order to escape the dread "bends."

The treasure hunters are backed by a syndicate of wealthy men, including A. J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., W. Heyward Drayton and Franklin I. Mallory.

Dangers?

"Yes, there is a possibility of high-jackers," Commander O'Hagan admitted. "But every member of the crew is an ex-navy man and we will mount guns when we get off shore. We'll be ready for them if they come.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 1.—The stock market developed considerable strength today, particularly in the public utilities and specialty stocks, in which the bulk of the trading took place. The decided improvement in the money situation, with little prospect of a hardening of rates over the summer months, the increased activity of the bullish pools and the comparatively lower level of prices of leading industrials were factors which helped the moderate advance in prices and encouraged the trading on a larger scale.

Similar conditions prevailed in the grain markets, where wheat, after early irregularity, jumped 5c to 7c a bushel in Chicago, Kansas City and Winnipeg. Cotton was held back by lack of trade buying. Commodity prices showed little change, though sugar, copper and other important commodities are still scraping bottom. Call money ruled at 4 per cent.

Public utilities stocks were the leaders in the forward movement, both on the stock exchange and in the curb market. Columbia Gas moved up about 3½ points on heavy buying based on anticipation of expansion in business following the acquisition of the Dayton Power & Light Co. Other well-known utilities participating in the movement were Montana Power, North American Co., electric light and power companies, Utah Securities, Consolidated Gas and American Water Works.

American Can advanced 4 points, to above 175, in the leadership of the industrials, but this move failed to stimulate much activity in the balance of the industrial list.

Reports of pending important developments in the oil industry attracted some buying of the oil shares late in the session. Standard Oil of New Jersey was reported entering into contracts with Marland and Pan-American for the sale of large quantities of Mexican crude oil, for the transportation of which it is proposed to extend pipe line facilities. Pan-American "B" advanced about 2 points, while Mid-Continent, Skelly, Simms and a few others of the prominent independent oils sold from a fraction to a point higher.

American Woolen was a conspicuously weak spot, with a decline of 2 points. Industrial Alcohol make a 3-point gain in active trading. Norfolk Southern and Chicago Northwestern were strong spots in the rails and Ontario & Western was taken in large blocks at an advance of more than a point.

American Can and Mack Trucks were the leaders in a moderate rally in prices near the close of the market. American Can gained 5 points, to 175½, and Mack Trucks was up 4, at 148½. Cast Iron Pipe jumped 6 points.

Oils participated in the rally, with good buying of the Pan-Americans, Mid-Continent, Marland, Phillips, Sinclair, Shell-Union and Skelly at an average gain of about a point.

Other features of the closing period were the decline in call money rates to 3½ per cent, the sharp advance in grain prices, with wheat up 6c to 8c a bushel, and corn up 3c and rye up 5c. The gradual stiffening of the cotton market, with prices 20 points higher, and steadiness in the foreign exchange markets, with sterling cables at $4.84⅝ and French francs at .0524¼.

Sales today, 1,213,200 shares; bonds, $15,608,000.

Members of the city council, board of public works, board of supervisors, Mayor George E. Cryer and a dozen or more other city officials will meet representatives of civic organizations of San Fernando valley, North Hollywood association and Hollywood Chamber of Commerce next Wednesday night at the Cahuenga pass mess hall to discuss the $5,000,000 improvement program under way in this section.

The meeting officially called by the board of public works at the suggestion of the directors of the Ventura Boulevard Chamber of Commerce is for the express purpose of aiding the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, the North Hollywood association and the Ventura Boulevard Chamber of Commerce in putting over the five finger traffic plan, the new Cahuenga Pass roads, Mulholland viaduct, 70 foot paving for Ventura boulevard and numerous other proposed improvements.

Purpose of Meet

The board of public works has sent formal invitations to city officials, newspaper men and executives of civic organizations in Hollywood and San Fernando valley.

The $5,000,000 improvement program in Cahuenga pass and North Hollywood section will require the close co-operation of city officials and civic organizations interested in the various projects is the opinion of members of the board of public works and the meeting Wednesday night will be an effort to establish close contacts for the carrying to completion of the work.

SERVICE STATION REWARDS POLICE

Ever-Ready Proprietor Asks That Bandits' Loot Be Given Patrolmen

Commending the work of Patrolmen E. L. Ames and A. E. Condy in capturing the bandits who held up and robbed the Ever-Ready service station, Central avenue and Broadway, H. H. Seely, proprietor of the service station today asked Chief of Police John D. Fraser to approve division of $52,45 recovered from the prisoners between the officers and J. A. Highly, night man on duty at the time of the robbery.

Chief Fraser today announced that he will ask permission of the City Council on Tuesday to permit the division of the money. Police officers in Glendale are not permitted to accept money from any source for their work in addition to their salary without approval of the council.

"Owing to the fact that I operate my service station day and night, it is a great satisfaction to know that the boys are always alert and equal to any occasion," said Seely.

"As a token of my appreciation, if it meets with your approval, I wish you would divide the money equally between Ames and Condy and J. A. Highly, my night man, whose cool judgment made the arrest possible."

Trained Nurse Tells About Wreck Victims

Miss Edith Taylor of San Diego, trained nurse, who came north with several of the passengers injured Tuesday night in a Santa Fe train wreck near Sorrento, was a guest last night at the home of her cousin, A. T. Cowan, 324 North Central avenue.

Miss Taylor was a special nurse in a San Diego hospital, where several of the injured passengers were taken from the wreck. She came north yesterday with some of the patients, who were able to be transferred to the Santa Fe hospital, Los Angeles. She states that the fireman of the train was seriously scalded and was unable to be moved from the San Diego hospital.

The man in charge of the express car on the wrecked train remained at his post of duty faithfully and, thinking that the wreck was caused by hold-up men, he opened fire on the crowds that gathered from the train after the wreck. So unstrung were his nerves that it was necessary to place him in restraint until he learned the cause of the accident.

NICKLES, TAILOR, TO HOLD OPENING

New Merchant In Central Building Ready For Business Saturday

L. B. Kraft, manager for Nickles the Tailor, today announced a grand opening tomorrow at room 7, Central building, 111 East Broadway, where the firm will be permanently located.

For years this establishment has been increasing its clientele in other cities of the Pacific coast. During that time a gigantic tailoring business has been built up on merit of workmanship. All clothing is made in the shops in Glendale by Nickles' workmen.

As a special offer, Kraft has announced that on the first fifty suits sold a price of $28.50 has been set, eliminating all profit in order to become acquainted with Glendale men.

The company carries the largest and most varied stock of spring and summer woolens in the city. Low prices are maintained, according to Kraft, by a tremendous buying power, a large turnover, low overhead and by knowing how to tailor at a minimum cost.

NEW BRIDGE PLEA PLANNED MONDAY

Glendale Officials To Join In New Petition For River Spans

Another attempt to get an appropriation of $500,000 from the county to build new bridges at Glendale boulevard and Fletcher drive over the Los Angeles river, will be made by Glendale and other cities of Los Angeles county when their representatives appear before the Board of Supervisors Monday morning.

An attempt to get county funds to assist in building the proposed bridges failed, when a delegation headed by Monteville Flowers and L. T. Rowley of Glendale, appeared before the supervisors ten days ago. On that occasion supervistors declared there were no funds available at the present time.

Funds Available

That county funds can be got and that such funds are available at present, was the assertion of George B. Karr before the directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon, in urging further action on the part of the board. As a result, a large delegation of Glendalians, representing the Chamber of Commerce, city, and other organizations will join representatives of other cities in a second appeal to the supervisors.

City Manager V. B. Stone, T. W. Watson, chairman of the planning commission, Councilman S. C. Kinch, Spencer Robinson, M. Walters, George B. Karr, Howard I. Wood and others will attend the session.
